

Bob Logan Introduction – General Audience

It is my privilege to introduce our speaker today.

Bob Logan has walked many paths in his life, and today he would like to take all of us on a short journey with him as well. As they say, travel the road less traveled and you will marvel at the people, experiences and opportunities you will find along the way!

Bob is truly a renaissance man...from high school history teacher to selling multimillion-dollar mainframe computers for AT&T. From a football coach in multiple NCAA Division 1 bowl games to being the head coach of an Italian football team in Bologna, Italy! Finally, to raising millions of dollars of philanthropy to helping with missions landing on the Mars and near-Earth asteroids – Bob has seen it all!

But before we get started, here are a couple of fun facts about Bob:

- Bob once snuck into the game (without a ticket) and onto the field for the halftime show dressed as Santa Claus in the Christmas Day, 1979 Fiesta Bowl game between the University of Pittsburgh and Dan Marino and the University of Arizona!
- As a football coach, Bob was one win away from coaching in the Super Bowl!

So let's go on a journey with Bob and hear about these and other interesting stories. He will make us all think about how to live our lives better – by taking risks, accepting change, and most importantly, to have more fun in our lives – after all, life is too short!

Ladies and Gentlemen, please give a warm welcome to our speaker, Bob Logan!!!
